Departmental Seminar

Under-Recognition and Under-Treatment of Chinese Americans with Depression: Challenges and Potential Solutions

11:30a.m. – 12:30p.m.  | May 14, 2018 (Monday)
Rm 813, 8/F, The Jockey Club Tower | Centennial Campus | The University of Hong Kong

Professor Albert S. Yeung, MD, ScD
Director of Primary Care Research at Depression Clinical and Research Program at Massachusetts General Hospital
Associate Professor of Psychiatry
Harvard Medical School

Abstract
Chinese Americans face both practical and cultural barriers to mental health care. They frequently lack access to mental health resources, face language barriers, and attach strong stigma to psychiatric illnesses. When depressed, Chinese Americans tend to seek help from primary care physicians, non-physician community members and alternative medicine practitioners. Depression is under-recognized and under-treated among Chinese Americans. Potential solutions will be discussed.

~All are Welcome~